Description

The ANAYA women's kitchen jacket features a stylish design with long sleeves and a crossover fastening with concealed press studs. This combination adds a touch of sophistication to the garment, which is essential for hospitality professionals who want to look good while working.

Turn-up cuffs on the long sleeves allow for a custom fit at the wrists, providing comfort and the flexibility needed to perform culinary tasks with dexterity.

This jacket is made from Kloppman fabric in white, composed of 50% recycled polyester and 50% organic cotton. This makes the garment environmentally friendly and an excellent choice in Gary's Uniform's NATUREWEAR range.

The fabric of the jacket offers stain resistance, which is essential in a kitchen environment where splashes and stains are common. This ensures that the jacket remains in good condition over a long period of use.

The jacket dries quickly and requires no ironing, saving time and effort in maintaining the garment.

The inclusion of AEROSILVER technical fabric on the back ensures a cool and breathable working environment, which is vital in the kitchen environment.

The ANAYA kitchen jacket is a high quality garment that combines elegance, comfort and sustainability.

Also available in men's model reference 942500.
