Description

This unisex gown has been designed to suit a wide range of professionals. Its classic style and functionality make it suitable for both men and women.

The long sleeves provide optimum coverage, essential in environments where hygiene and clothing protection are a priority.

Concealed press studs provide a secure and quick fastening, without sacrificing the aesthetics of the gown. They are strong and durable, keeping the garment in place throughout the working day.

Acrylic cuffs offer comfort and durability, as well as keeping you warm in cooler environments.

The lapel collar is a detail that adds professionalism to the design of the coat, making it ideal for environments where a neat presentation is required.

This gown includes an inner pocket sewn into the left chest to keep personal items or work tools safe and secure.

This model is especially designed for the food industry and production and handling lines, but can also be used for sanitary, cleaning or commercial uniforms.

Model replaced by reference number: 570101.
